DAY FOR PORT ARTHUR'S FALL.

LONG PREDICTED THAT MIKADO'S BIRTHDAY WOULD SEE END.

Boom of Siege Guns Heard at Chefoo Shows That Fighting Is Going On-Terrible Slaughter During the Slege-5,000 Corpses Unburied-North Sea Verdiet.

Special Cable Despatch to THE SUN. LONDON. Nov. 3 .- A despatch to the Telegraph from Chefoo says that the general assault on Port Arthur continues. The boom of the siege guns has been heard at Chefoo all day. A great infantry advance was arranged for Wednesday. Russians at Chefoo say they have news only two days old from Port Arthur. All was then well in the fortress.

In view of a combined attack the Japanese during the last few days have increased their blockading squadron. All available torpedo boats are doing patrol duty.

The despatch adds that comments from England suggest that the horrors of the fighting around the fortress are not adequately realized. There is overwhelming evidence from independent Japanese and Russian sources that mines, machine guns and electrical devices have been responsible for enormous slaughter, which has been exceeded by the losses sustained by point blank range and bayonet fighting. Gen. Stoessel, the commander at Port Arthur, is an ideal man for the crisis, inasmuch as he is a soldier of the scientific school.

The world will eventually realize the ghastliness of what it has hitherto not experienced, namely, a twentieth century war carried on with scientific appliances. There are now at least 5,000 corpses unburied on the hillsides. A majority of those dead have been lying there for two months. The air is filled with a fever spreading stench.

The lack of surgical requirements is causing indescribable suffering. There are no anæsthetics and no antiseptics.

Knowing that Nov. 3 is the Mikado's birthday there is anxiety in the Russian colony at Chefoo, but they say that unless the Japanese are prepared to lose 50,000 men Port Arthur cannot fall then. It has long been predicted that it would. The forts at Golden Hill, Tiger's Tail and Liastishan are capable of prolonged resistance when all else is hopeless. The duration of their resistance is dependent alone upon the quantity of ammunition the Russians

Although the Japanese are pessimistic concerning the outcome of the present attack they declare their preparations are perfect. In the event of failure they will conclude that the fortress is impregnable to assault and will rely upon a regular eiege to force its capitulation.

Coroner's Jury Acts So as Not to Compileate International Affairs.

Special Cable Despatch to THE SUN. HULL, Nov. 2.- The inquest into the George Smith skinner of the Hull trawler Crane, and William Leggett, both of whom lost their lives in the North Fea affair, was held to-day.

At the conclusion of the evidence Mr. Aciand, King's counsel, representing the Government, urged the jury not to prejudice the case before it was perfectly heard. He said there would be ample opportunity for both sides to present their views before the international commission. & It was the general legal opinion that nebody could be found guilty of murder or manslaughter nder the circumstances.

This alone would not be sufficient reason for asking the jury not to find such a verdict, but there were also reasons of policy, and it was desirable that the verdict should be so worded as not to render more difficult the task of the commission. It would be possible to return a verdict recording he facts without prejudicing the case.

The Coroner advised the jury to comply with the suggestion of Mr. Acland. The substance of the verdict was that the victims were killed by shots fired without warning or provocation by certain Russian

St. Petersburg, Nov. 2.-The Admiralty has telegraphed to the officers of the Baltic fleet, who were left behind at Vigo in order that they might testify, and who were on their way to St. Petersburg, to remain in Admiral Kaznakoff, a member of the Admiralty Council, who was appointed yesterday upon the international commission which is to inquire into the North Sea affair, started for Paris to-day. His appointment is welcomed as an indication that there will be a thorough search for the facts of the case. The Admiral won golden opinions among the members of the convention held in Washington in 1889 to formulate rules of the road for the sea. He was Russia's representative there. He will prepare the Russian case and will cite an incident reported in the Naval Annual of 1903. In that case the British cruiser Minerva, during manœuvres on the Irish coast in 1900, found herself at night among trawlers. She mistook them for torpedo boats and signalled that she regarded erself as blown up.

BIG BETS NOW OFFERED. 10 to 7 the Prevailing Odds on Herrick and 5 to 1 on Roosevelt.

Considerable activity developed in the betting market in Wall Street yesterday. The largest amounts changed hands on the contest for the Governorship of New York State, on which the odds were 10 to 7 in favor of Herrick. A. A. Housman & Co. sent a representative to the curb in the afternoon with about $85,000 to wager on Higgins at the prevailing odds. Of this mount $7,000 to $10,000 was placed with J. J. Judge, $1,400 to $2,000 with Hopkins Bros., $1,750 to $2,500 with E. R. Hammerslaugh, $700 to $1,000 with Allen, McGraw & Co. and $350 to $500 with Herrick. Berg & Co. At the end of the day A. A. Housman & Co. were offering to bet $70,000 against $100,000 that Higgins would be elected, and J. J. Judge said that he had $25,000 to $20,000 to place on Herrick. Bunnell, Buchanan & Co. bet on Herrick $1,000 to $700 with W. C. Nefius and $2,000 to $1,400 with J. J. Judge. On the Presidential contest the odds varied, as they did on Tuesday, between 4 to 1 and 5 to 1 in favor of Roosevelt, with most of the bets made at the longer terms. M. J. Kiernan wagered $200 on Parker against $1,000 put up by E. A. Sichel & Co., and then, on a commission from Sichel & Co. placed $2,000 on Roosevelt with J. H. Oliphant & Co., $2,000 with Sheffield & McCullough and $1,000 with Allen, McGraw & Co., all at cdds of 5 to 1.

Other bets were $2,000 to $500 by Bunnell. Buchanan & Co. with P. J. McDonald. $400 to $100 by E. Phillips with J. J. Judge and $200 to $1,000 on Parker by Allen, McGraw & Co., the name of the other party to the transaction being withheld.

C. H. Marshall bet $500 even with Jacob Lorsch that Roosevelt would carry New York, New Jersey, Indiana and Connecticut. and $1,900 even with Mendham Bros. that Roosevelt would have 300 or more electoral votos Frederick H. Brooks, acting for a Brooklyn politician, stated that he had closed a bet in an uptown hotel on Tuesday night of $10,000 to $5,000 that Roosevelt would carry New York State. #### SMALL HOPE FOR MRS. ROGERS. Vermont Legislature Will Probably Not Commute Her Death Sentence.

MONTPELIER, Vt., Nov. 2.-All hope of saving Mrs. Mary M. Rogers from the gallows for the murder of her husband. Marcus Rogers, has been abandoned by her relatives. The Legislative Judiciary Committee held a hearing last night on the question of commuting the death sentence and also on the question of abolishing capital punishment. The members were almost unanimously opposed, not only to commuting the death sentence of Mrs. Rogers but also to abolishing the death penalty.

Mrs. Rogers was separated from her husband at the time the murder was committed With a young man, Leon Perham, she enticed Rogers to a lonely river bank and induced him to lie down on the bank and place his head in her lap. Saying that wished to show him a new trick, she then tied his arms, and with the assistance of Perham chloroformed him and cast his body into the river.

The story came out through the confession of Perham, who has been sentenced to life imprisonment.

STRIKE MAKES FUEL HIGHER. Soft Coal Prices Go Up Because the Holst ing Engineers Are Out.

CHICAGO, Nov. 2.- The second day of the coal hoisting engineers' strike brought an increase of from 10 to 25 cents a ton in the wholesale price of soft coal. There is danger of a sympathetic movement on the part of the United Mine Workers. Attempts to operate three mines, where engineers returned to work, failed to-day because the miners refused to report for

That a fraction of the Coal Operators' Association favors closing down the mines for a period sufficient to bolster up the market was admitted to-day by Herman Justi, commissioner for the association. No effort is being made to bring engineers from other States to take the places of the men who quit yesterday morning. Meanwhile upward of 45,000 miners are idle and manufacturers fear still further increases

VESSEL CAREENS ON STOCKS. Two Men Killed and Several Hurt in

Accident in Quincy, Mass. QUINCY, Mass., Nov. 2.- Two men were killed, two seriously injured and a dozen others hurt slightly this afternoon by the sudden careening on the stocks of a steel tank steamer in process on construction at the Fore River Shipbuilding Company's yard for the Standard Oil Company. The men killed were William Johnson, a ship carpenter, belonging in Camden, N. J. and Lewis Crump, a caulker, whose home is in Newport News. The accident happened when the hull of the vessel was being filled with water to find leaks and several men were under the craft. Suddenly the hull began to sway and then the blocks slipped and she fell over on her side, crushing Johnson and Crump. It is not believed that the hull was injured as she dropped only two and

BURNING HAY DOWNS FIREMEN

CHIEF KELLOCK AND NINE MEN OVERCOME IN BROOKLYN.

Two of Them in a Serious Condition and the Chief Not Much Better Off-It Looked an Easy Job Until the Water Was Turned On-Small Boy Arrested.

Battalion Fire Chief James Kellock of the Thirty-first Battalion, Brooklyn, with nine of his men, while fighting a fire in a thirty-five ton haystack at East Eleventh street and Newkirk avenue, Parkville, last evening were overcome by the gas and smoke arising from the smoldering hay. Chief Kellock and two of his men are in a critical condition, while the others are very sick men. All were removed to the Kings County Hospital, except Chief Kellock, who was taken to the Parkville station, where he spent the night. Two of the men at the hospital will probably die.

Fire was discovered in the haystack about 4:20 by Sergt. Irwin of the Parkville station. He telephoned in an alarm. About the same time Patrolmen Cook and Ryan of the same station saw the fire, each from a different direction, and each sent in an alarm from a different box. Four engines and a hook and ladder truck were soon on the scene, with a crowd of the most disgusted firemen that have been seen around a fire in a long time.

"It's baby's work to put a fire of that kind out," said Chief Kellock, "Get up on top of it, boys, and tear it apart with a stream or two.

The chief and nine of his men accordingly climbed to the top of the big stack and began throwing the hay to the ground from the centre in order to get a hole into the middle through which to get the hose on the fire, which was smoldering from the bottom and eating its way into the heart

The instant the water was turned on an immense cloud of smoke and gaseous steam arose. Chief Kellock and his men were enveloped in the smoke and gas, and for several minutes not one of them could be seen. The first knowledge that the specators and the other firemen had that anything was wrong was when three of the men on top of the stack rolled in a semiconscious condition to the ground.

Others also rolled off the stack, dragging the semi-conscious form of their chief with them. Two men remained at the top of the stack, being too far gone to roll off They were Martin Kavanaugh, 30 years old, of Engine 158, and William Frey, 29 years old, of Engine 150. Both were rescued by their comrades from the ground, after the smoke and gas had spent itself and sent to the Kings County Hospital. where they were said to be in a very critical condition. Ambulances were summoned from the Kings County, Seney, Cumberland street and Norwegian hospitals, and the surgeons had plenty to do. Ambulance Surgeon Brown from the Seney Hospital, who was first to arrive, was almost exhausted when his colleagues came to help him.

Besides Kavanaugh and Frey, the firemen vercome were: Battalion Chief Kellock, Arthur Morrell of Engine 155, Alexander Looseen of Engine 158, David Hyde of Engine 148. Frederick Myers of Engine 140, James Girard of Hook and Ladder Truck 63, Joseph McDonald of Engine 148, and Jules Anderson of Engine 148.

Patrolman Cook notified Sergt. Irwin that he had seen two small boys running away from the vicinity of the haystack shortly before the fire was discovered. He said that the boys looked very much scared. Detectives Roddy and McGovern, with Patrolman Ryan, were sent out to look for the boys.

After an hour of searching among the boys in the neighborhood it was learned that a small boy had been seen crawling in the coal hole at the residence of Henry Gould, Foster avenue and Coney Island avenue, directly opposite the police station. The officers searched the Gould cellar and found eight-year-old John E. Moran of 265 Lawrence avenue, Parkville The boy denied that he had set fire to the havstack, but after his fright had somewhat subsided declared that he knew who did it and that he would lead the officers to the boys.

For two hours the police travelled about the streets of Parkville looking for "Willie," "Tommy" and Jimmy" to no purpose. Finally, young Moran was taken to Capt. White, to whom he admitted that he had set fire to the hay himself. "Just to show the boys that he wasn't afraid—and to have a big bonfire," was his explanation.

The boy was locked up on a charge of malicious mischief and subsequently released in the custody of his mother. He will be arraigned in the Children's Court will be arranged in the Children's Court this morning.

While the excitement was at its height the Rev. Father McEleese of the Roman Catholic Church of St. Rose of Lima, Lawrence avenue, Parkville, administered the last rites of the church to Kavanaugh, surrounded by a score of his half conscious comrades, as he lay on the ground on a horse blocket. norse blanket

The bay stack was owned by Frederick Luck of Newkirk avenue and Brighton Beach road, who valued it at $700, no in-surance. The fire was still smoulder-ing at midnight last night.

PLATT SPEAKS UP FOR HIGGINS. Thinks He Will Be Elected and Says He Is a Good Man. Senator Platt, upon leaving his office last evening for his home at Highland Mills, in Orange County, expressed it as his conident opinion that the Republican State ticket would surely be elected. He said:

"It is apparent to even the casual political observer that the outlook for Repubtical observer that the outlook for Republican success in our State has been growing brighter day by day for the past three weeks. There is no man in public affairs in this State better qualified for the office of Governor, more discerning in his judgment, more upright in all his dealings than is Frank W. Higgins. His name has been known in Albany since he first went to the Senate as that of a consistent opponent Senate as that of a consistent opponent of all kinds of jobs, and although this cam-paign has been one waged by our oppo-nents on most abusive lines, no criticism of any of his official acts has been passed, except one, that in the Furnaceville matter, and in that particular instance, after a full and fair examination, the New York Times, and fair examination, the New York Times, one of the leading Democratic papers, has withdrawn the charge as entirely false and unjust. If there was at any time the slightest doubt in the mind of any Republican as to the probability of our electing our State ticket, it must have been effectually dispelled by the events of the last few weeks. We have sall taken off our coats, rolled up our sleeves and pitched in to make Higgins' election sure. I should like the Republicans of the State to be assured of my unflagging interest in his election, and to be inspired, if possible, by these few words to an aggressive activity in his interest that shall not abate by these few words to an aggressive activity in his interest that shall not abate until the polls close on November $th."

WEST VIRGINIA'S TRIAL TRIP.

New Armored Cruiser Makes 22.14 Knots an Hour-Slightly Below Record.

Boston, Nov. 2.-The new armored cruiser West Virginia, constructed by the Newport News Shipbuilding Company had her official trial trip over the Cape Ann-Cape Porpoise course to-day under ideal weather conditions. While she expeeded the contract requirement of 22 knots an hour for four consecutive hours steaming, she did not make as good average as did her sister ship, the Colorado, built by the Cramps, and tested here last week The average speed of the West Virginia. was 22.14 knots an hour, against 22.27 knots made by the Colorado. That the average speed did not exceed that of the Colorado was a disappointment to President Orcutt of the Newport News company, but he took some considerable satisfaction in the fact that several times during the race the West Virginia exceeded the best speed shown by the Colorado The Colorado attained a speed of 22.33 knots an hour at one time during her trial, but the West Virginia hit the pace up to a rate of 22.54 knots an hour during the early stages of her trial, a new record for vessels of her type.

On the first leg of the return journey over the course, the cruiser steamed at the rate of 22.43 knots an hour, and was close to this speed on several other occasions. It was said on board the cruiser that some difficulty was experienced with the port

The steering and anchor tests were satisfactory to the trial boards. The tidal corrections will add a small fraction to the vessel's time.

BUFFALO BILL IN MAN HUNT.

PREPARES TO START OUT FOR CODY BANK ROBBERS.

Has Invited His English and Eastern Friends to Go With Him-Iron Tall, Sloux Chief, Will Also Go as Will Several Cowboys-One Robber Is Wounded.

CHEVENNE, Wyo., Nov. 2.—The most exciting man hunt in this State since the robbery of the Union Pacific flyer at Wilcox in 1899, when Sheriff Joe Hazen of Converse county was killed by Harvey Logan and his gang, is now going on in the Big Horn Basin. The Cody bank robbers, who murdered Cashier Middaugh yesterday afternoon while attempting to rob the First National Bank, are the quarry, and almost every ablebodied man in the Big Horn country who can ride and shoot is the pursuer.

Col. W. F. Cody (Buffalo Bill) arrived at Cody, his home town, this evening accompanied by a large party of English nobility and New York clubmen and immediately made preparations to take the country through which the two bank robbers are fleeing for their lives, for he scouted over that region long before there was any signs of a human habitation there and his knowledge of the country and his experience in trailing will be valuable in running the outlaws down.

He has with him Iron Tail, the famous Sioux Chief, who is not only the best trailer in the West, but who has many of the remarkable instincts of wild game, being able to find a trail by the scent when all other signs have been obliterated. Among his tribesmen he is called the "BloodLound." Cody also has with him three or four cowboys who are experts with the rifle.

The outlaws having been called upon to surrender, refused to come forth. Night came on and no attempt was made to do any shooting. ## POST OFFICE ROBBERS HURT. Marked by Trail of Blood CHICORA, Pa., Nov. 2.- The post office here was blown up last night by robbers, who secured about $1,000 in money and stamps. The robbers were evidently hurt in the explosion of nitroglycerine, with which they opened the safe and almost wrecked the town. At daybreak the Sheriff and twenty men, assisted by bloodhounds, took up the trail which was marked by blood for some distance.

It is thought the visitors came on horseback. The robbers evidently numbered four The explosion occurred about 2 o'clock and most of the townspeople were jolted out of bed. The safe of the office was blown to pieces, the charge of explosive probably having been much heavier than the robbers intended to use. To-night word came from the Sheriff's party, twenty miles from Chicora, that they were chasing the robbers, who were evidently heading for the New York State line.

TO NUTMEG STATE TO-DAY. Judge Parker Has Several More Speeches

Ready to Launch. Judge Parker's raid on Connecticut will be started at 10:10 A. M. to-day, when a special train will carry him out of New York. He will be accompanied by Henry A. Bishop and other Connecticut Democrats. He will take luncheon at the house of Mr. Bishop and hold a reception in the Bridgeport armory. A speech is on the cards. New Haven will be the next stop. The Judge is down for a talk to Vale students and others at 3:30 P. M. A lot of Democrats about headquarters yesterday were wondering why the candidate chose to wondering why the candidate chose to talk to students, most of them won't vote at this late day. It was decided that the Judge is preparing for 1908. The special train will arrive in Hartford about 6:80 P. M. There the Judge will dine with important Democrats and after-ward he will make the biggest speech of the day.

It had not been decided last night whether the candidate will remain in Hartford over night or return to New York at once. No speeches are on his slate for to-morrow, but that doesn't insure against his making some.

Judge Parker denied himself to visitors yesterday. He was busy framing speeches.

Joseph C. Hendrix's Condition.

Judge Parker, who is running for President dent on the Democratic ticket, talked to the German-Americans last night in Cooped Union hall. The presence of Carl Schurz beloved of many Germans, and the conjuring use of the name of Grover Cleveland who was originally slated to speak at this meeting of the German-American Parker Union, contributed to the enthusiasm, and for Judge Parker himself there was welcoming cheer that lasted eight minutes. His views on imperialism, militarism and the like were frequently applauded. In Judge Parker's written speech and peared this sentence: "Nobody needs to ask whether you and yours shrink back from the faintest shadows however distant, which may reveal the fatal presence of the Man on Horseback." When Judge Parker came to this sene ence he passed it up. He had just pict ured the low browed recruiting sergeans watching the young life develop until is was old enough to carry a gun and then capturing it. His hearers were aroused and enthusiastic and, one might thinks ripe for the fatal presence, but the Judge suddenly decided not to hand it out.

The crowd in and around Cooper Union was more than enough to fill the hall at 7 o'clock, but only persons with reserved seat tickets were admitted until 7:30. Then Inspector Schmittberger gave the signal and the seats filled with a rush. Fifteen minutes later Carl Schurz came in and got a rousing cheer. The band played "The Star Spangled Banner," everyone stood up, and three cheers apiece were given for Schurz and Opening Speech by Carl Schurz. Herman Ridder asked the audience to be very quiet during Mr. Schurz's speech, as the veteran's voice was not at its best. The injunction was obeyed after three more cheers.

Mr. Schurz talked about political corruption and compared the right against it to the fight against the "slave barons" forty-four years ago. He referred to Mr. Roosevelt as "a President who is the bodiment of brutal force."

Mr. Schurz was cheered at the end of his speech, and a woman in the audience tossed him a bunch of violets, which he carried all the rest of the evening.

George von Skal made a red hot speech in which he several times mentioned Cleveland's name, and the audience as often broke into cheers. There were hisses when Mr. von Skal ironically referred to Mr. Roosevelt as "the best President the United States ever had." This speaker got to the end of his regular stunt at 8:10 o'clock, but he had to peg along after that, for he had the ungrateful task of being the victim of the Judge's triumphal arrival. his speech, and a woman in the audience

Flags Waved at Judge Parker. Mr. von Skal was giving the trusts one more brutal whack at 8:25 o'clock when, the tramp! tramp! on the floor above told that something was about to happen. All eyes turned from the speaker to the stairs and there soon appeared Judge Parker's tile, shining in the arc light like Navarre's heimet at Ivry, as Will Sulzer would say. In a jiffy the crowd was on its feet. Almost every man and woman had a small American flag and these waved in a storm of color. The cheering had not the volume of the noise that was made at Madison Square, Garden on Monday night, but it seemed to be a bit more genuine. Mr. von Skal was giving the trusts one

"Parker!" they all screamed. The Judge disappeared up the steps of the stage. When he reappeared between the curtains the roar was renewed. He advanced and shook hands with Carl Schurz. They stood an instant, smiling and talking, while the crowd whooped on and then the Presidential candidate stepped to the speakers' stand. The cheering was louder than ever, and Judge Parker, seeing that it would last for several minutes more, turned and called and Judge Parker, seeing that it would have for several minutes more, turned and called Mr. Schurz to his side. This act destroyed any chance of immediate silence, for when the band struck up "The Red, White and Blue" the yelling threatened the roof. After two minutes of it Mr. Schurz put out has been apprealingly, and there was an his hand appealingly, and there was an instant lull, the first in eight minutes. Judge Parker began his speech, which

Speech of Candidate Parker.

This is Judge Parker's speech, with the cross head lines supplied therewith by the author:

When we speak of the growth of an imperialistic tendency in this country we do not mean that we have, or care to have, a ruler with the title of Emperor at the head of the Government, or a political constitution abolishing the republic and establishing for it a monarchy. Rome was substantially an empire before Cessar's diotate. Laip, and France was ruled by an imperialistic policy while Napoleon Bonaparte still called himself the Citizen Consulof the French Republic. With us the tendency toward imperialism in our Government took tangible shape when this republic assumed the power to rule over distant and alien countries and populations. public assumed the power to rule over distant and alien countries and populations, not only without their consent, but distinctly against their will, and when, correspondingly, the principles and ideals we had inherited from the founders of the republic gave way to ideas as to the powers of our Government which differed widely from Abraham Lincoln's conception of a democracy, that it was "Government of the people, for the people, and by the people."

HOW RIGHTS ARE DISREGARDED. When we annexed the Philippine Islands, it was done not only with complete disregard of the rights and the wishes of the people thereof—a disregard as absolute as ever characterized any of the conquests of the Roman Empire or of the French Empire, under Napoleon—but also with a hardly-less absolute disregard of the spirit of curpolitical institutions. The annexation of the islands and the subjection by force of the Filipinos fighting for their independant
